COMPASS Executive Director Matt Stoll Receives National Association of Regional Councils' President's Award

Meridian, Idaho – The Community Planning Association of Southwest Idaho (COMPASS) is proud to announce that Executive Director Matt Stoll received a National Association of Regional Councils' (NARC) 2024 President's Award at the 58th annual NARC national conference in Atlanta, GA.

The NARC President's Award recognizes leadership and excellence in advocating for regional concepts, approaches, and programs.

Stoll has served as COMPASS' Executive Director since 2004. He is respected for his ability to find common ground and facilitate solutions that benefit the entire Treasure Valley, as well as his quick mind, ease of comprehension of both technical data and policy nuance, and excellent communication skills.

"I am honored to receive this award and be recognized by my peers, whom I greatly admire," states Stoll. "I extend my thanks to the NARC Board and staff, and especially to the COMPASS Board of Directors for their support of me personally and of COMPASS' vision of regional collaboration."

COMPASS is the forum for regional collaboration in southwest Idaho, offering people choices in how and where they live, work, play, and travel. NARC is a national organization that advocates for regional cooperation as the most effective way to address community planning and development opportunities and issues.
